Dear Mimi:

When we began the design process on our new penthouse, we had several objectives. One, even though we were in southwest Florida on the Gulf, we wanted to incorporate our existing antiques and artwork into our new home; two, we wanted a home that family and friends would walk into and say “This is Tim and Mary’s house”, a home to reflect our individual styles, and third, we wanted a house that was livable with comfortable furniture and warm tones and fabrics. We had tried to work with other designers and knew that this was a tall order — but you exceeded our expectations — and we love our new home!

One of the most impressive skills you brought to the design process was your understanding of what we liked. While we felt very involved in the furniture, fabric and design decisions, the selections and recommendations you made reflected our taste and we were very pleased that most of the time, we felt your choices were ones we would have made. Your ability to narrow selections made the process go faster and smoother and made it much less frustrating for people like us who know what they like but don’t like to shop!

Additionally, we felt you did an exceptional job with your fabric selections and window treatments. Our 18th century dining room furniture had red velvet seat cushions. The 18th century reproduction fabric you found for the upholstery makes the furniture look better than it ever did and we love how it ties in with the floral arrangements. We wanted window treatments to soften the large windows and to offer protection from direct sun and morning light but were not obtrusive. All the window treatments turned our fantastic and don’t detract at all from the fabulous views.

We know our penthouse was a demanding and complex project that we wanted completed in record time, but you did a fantastic job and made a potentially stressful situation fun! Good luck and always feel free to use us as a reference and to show our home to potential clients.
